

Horror Haven

Thursday, January 17, 2008

Jan Reviews! The Girl Next Door, The Orphanage, Tales From Beyond, much more!!!!

Tales From Beyond ( www.myspace.com/talesfrombeyondfilm )

A young couple is on the search for the perfect gift for their friend who loves rare and odd books. On their journey they stumble upon a small, mysterious bookstore that may have what they are looking for. The store owner (played by Adam West) shows the couple a set of horror/sci fi themed books that their friend might like. The rest of the movie is 4 stories that the couple reads, with bookstore scenes in between the stories.

The four stories are pretty strong and well acted. Everything from a diner that crosses time, a remote that controls the world, a boxer with an unlikely trainer, and a man who is having trouble realizing what is dream and what is reality.

As a kid some of my favorite horror movies were Creepshow, Nightmares, and Tales From the Darkside. This goes right up there with those. Not a classic in my mind like those movies, but very well done and worth checking out.